Headline:

A wet start, then sunny spells and some showers later.

Today:

A wet start to the day as a band of rain, heavy at times and wintry over hills, moves eastwards over the region. This will clear by midday, leaving behind scattered showers and occasional sunny spells. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:

A dry evening for most, with patchy cloud. Scattered showers possible overnight before becoming drier again before dawn. Feeling less cold than recent nights, although frost is possible in places. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Sunday:

A fine and dry day across the region, with plenty of sunny spells and light winds. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:

Largely dry with sunny spells for Monday but rain moving in through the evening. Very wet and strong winds throughout Tuesday. Heavy rain to start Wednesday, drier later.
